

The Rooster Blues Band

Victor Coelho | Dave Morton | Tom Knowles | Kenton McDonald | Pat Belliveau |

The Rooster Blues Band had its origins in Calgary in 2000, and since then has developed into a dynamic live show that has resulted in engagements at major festivals, universities, and the premier blues clubs in Canada and the USA, such as the Silver Dollar in Toronto, the King Edward Hotel in Calgary, Blues on Whyte in Edmonton, and the House of Blues in Boston. For ten years the band toured regularly with the late Chicago blues and R&B singer Lou Pride (d. 2012), winner of the "Most Outstanding Blues Recording Artist" award given by Living Blues magazine, appearing in Boston, Hartford, Washington, D.C., and Toronto. The Rooster Band's stylish mixture of Blues and Urban influences, R&B, acoustic and electric styles, and fusion—all backed by a strong reverence for the stylistic roots of popular music—can be heard on their début album Come on in My Kitchen (UCM 0101) and Bluestoons (UCM 0104).

A collection of superb musicians...
-Avenue Magazine

This superb disc features the band schooling the audience on the history of the blues...
-Calgary Sun

Listening to joyous organ, delicious licks and sweet guitar, the players' love of music is the album's theme.
