

Happy Birthday Mike!!

*65 Years on the Road
with the "Travel'n Man"*

Erice, July 21-August 1, 2005

- Prehistory...
- Multifaceted Mike's Lasting Legacy
 - Scientific Humanitarian
 - Pusher of Boundaries
 - Scientific Statesman
- Fitting tribute that celebrates everything Mike?

A rousing song!!

- New music genre “SCI Folk”
 - Capture the public’s imagination with ballads about our unsung heroes
 - Catchy tunes heralding great achievements in simulation...
 - Fund research with SCI folk music sales?

Our unsung heroes are unsung for a reason!

Too many syllables, and too hard to get anything to rhyme with e.g.:

Monte Carlo

Molecular Dynamics

Renormalization Group

Ising Model

Parallel Tempering

Grand Canonical Ensemble

*“Never needed no theory.....
The Ballad of Aneese Rahman” (work in progress)*

*Back in the days of Levesque and Verlet, when simulation began
There was young lad who made a difference, his name was Aneese Raman.*

*He calculated really significant things, and developed new methodology
But he never needed no theory, he never needed no theory,
Never needed no theory, didn't need it at all.*

“Ol’ Mike’s Lab”

*When ever I’m out research’n, chasing some scientific dream
I often stop and think about a place I’ve never seen,
Where friendly folks can gather and study day and night,
With Ol’ Mike to guide their every step until they see the light.*

Well....

*There’s a cluster in the corner, an old printer out the back,
That code’s a bit dodgy ’cause some post-doc was a hack.
The science is really cool, but the decor’s a little drab,
There’s always someth’n simulat’n in Ol’ Mike’s Lab.*

*Folks they come from all o' the world, just to visit Mike Klein,
Ideas they flow so freely over lots of good food and wine!
And when the day is done, and the code's all set to go,
Ol' Mike he's off to Europe again, he's always to and fro!*

Well....

*There's a cluster in the corner, an old printer out the back,
That code's a bit dodgy 'cause some post-doc was a hack.
They coarse grain big problems, believe it if you will,
This makes it really fast, and the results they are a thrill!
The science is really cool, but the decor's a little drab,
There's always someth'n simulat'n in Ol' Mike's Lab.*

*Now Mike this is your Birthday, you're sixty five at last!
It's time to focus on the future, and not upon the past.
'Cause as the old saying goes, its one of our proud traditions,
That, old theorists never do retire, they just change the boundary conditions.*

Well....

*There's a cluster in the corner, an old printer out the back,
That code's a bit dodgy 'cause some post-doc was a hack.
They coarse grain big problems, believe it if you will,
This makes it really fast, and the results they are a thrill!
From viruses to Viagra, they simulate it all,
even proton conduction in an ion channel.
The science is really cool, but the decor's a little drab,
There's always someth'n simulat'n in Ol' Mike's Lab.*
