November Meeting

Come to the Boston University's IEEE November meeting! Pizza will be served, tech will be talked, and fun will be had by all. Mingle with fellow engineers and enhance your exposure to the world of technology at the IEEE November meeting!

Tech talk:

 fast

Pete Dempsey from FastSearch will be here on Thursday to speak about the complexity of information retrieval in unstructured environments. Included will be an overview of strategies to break down natural language search into subproblems that are much easier to tackle algorithmically. Pete will also speak about methods of mirroring information indices into the storage space itself.

As always, our technical speaker is interested in forming contacts within the student community for recruitment opportunities.
